DETAILED ACTION

Applicants' response of 11/20/2006 has been considered and entered in the record. Claims 22-29 and 32-34 are under consideration. Applicants' arguments have been considered but they are not persuasive for the reasons as discussed below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 22-24 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Funada et al (US 6,078,299) for the reasons of record.

Response to Applicants' Arguments

Applicants' argue that Funada explicitly discloses that the bump (16) connects the piezoelectric substrate (11) (Examiner's carrier substrate) to the circuit substrate (12) (Examiner's capping substrate). Applicants argue that Funada et al does not disclose a wiring substrate and does not disclose that the bump (16) connects a filter to a wiring substrate. Applicants argue that Funada et al does not disclose a carrier substrate and a capping substrate are connected to a wiring substrate by an interconnection.

The Examiner notes that Funada et al disclose that electrical power is supplied to the piezoelectric substrate from the circuit substrate via electrode pads. See the Abstract. Moreover, Funada et al disclose forming conductive layers on the back and the side of the piezoelectric substrate and connecting them to a ground electrode. See column 6, lines 55-60. The Examiner states that it would be inherent that the electrical power supplied to the piezoelectric substrate would be supplied by a wiring substrate, and therefore the Funada reference discloses all of the claimed limitations. Therefore, Funada et al anticipates all of the claimed limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 25 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Funada et al (US 6,078,299) in view of Tanski (US 4,409,570) for the reasons of record.

Claims 27 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Funada et al (US 6,078,299) in view of Penumuri (US 5,287,036) for the reasons of record.

Claims 32-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Funada et al (US 6,078,299) in view of Yamada (US 5,932,950) for the reasons of record.

Response to Applicants' Arguments

Applicants argue that the Funada et al reference does not disclose the claimed limitations. The rejections are maintained as discussed above with respect to the Funada et al reference.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
